

Draft Mill Grinding Out Defenders For National Army

Exemption Board Making Good Headway After Getting Accustomed to Army Intricate Regulations

EXEMPTION CLAIMS ARE RUNNING HIGH

The work of grinding out men for Uncle Sam's new national army was begun in District No. 1 this morning. The time set to start the examination was 8 o'clock a. m. but a half hour before that time the young hussars began to drop quietly in front of the house.

The candidates arrived in athletic specimens of young American manhood were in line in the hall ready for a heart to heart session with the examining physicians.

The new member of the board R. H. Sommerville, of Winburne, was sworn in by his colleagues Messrs. Stewart and Dyer and the work of sorting out the physically fit was at once taken up.

The board was assisted by Sheriff McCloskey who registered all claims for exemption, Chief Clerk John M. Bain and Assistant W. O. Hoover, Drs. John W. Gordon G. B. Yeasney, Quigley and Frantz, of Clearfield, Mauk, of Woodland, and King, of Curwensville, were the doctors engaged.

At 8:20 the first man was called. He was No. 258 the first man in the history making draft, Robert Mitchell, of Clearfield, son of the late Oscar Mitchell, Esq. He is a sturdy specimen of American manhood and like the fabled Abou Ben Adhem, his name will lead all the rest when the roll of accepted soldiers is called for District No. 1.

The doctors worked carefully over each subject and when time for the noon recess arrived but 58 men had run the strenuous gauntlet. Of these 58 men there were 25 exemption claims filed. Of this number 20 asked exemption because of a wife and one or more children; three claimed to be the sole support of widowed mothers; one was supporting aged and infirm parents, while the other was already in Uncle Sam's service. In addition to the exemptions asked for 10 others were rejected for failure to pass the physical requirements. The remaining 23 were passed as being physically fit, had no kick coming anywhere and will be found ready and waiting when the training camp to board the cars for the training camp on September 5th next. There are 140 names on the list for examination today and the board is in for a very busy all day and all night session from appearances at noon, although the work of examining was hustled along more rapidly this afternoon.

Following a hasty luncheon the board resumed its work at 1:15 and the grind began again. By 3:30 o'clock 58 more had passed through the ordeal. Of this number 13 were rejected on physical grounds. Of the remaining 45 exemption claims were presented by 17, leaving 25 accepted men.

Of the exemptions 8 were on account of being married; 4 were supporting their mothers; 2 were aliens and 3 were supporting their parents. The total number summoned today was 157, which left 42 for examination after 3:30 p. m.

Opposition Board Was Working Overtime

Found to be... and... Dispersed

The candidates at the morning session were certainly carefully scrutinized, in fact even more so than the regulations contemplated or required. This was learned about noon when it was discovered that in addition to the doctors and members of the exemption board, several other pairs of eyes, advantageously located, were giving the prospective warriors more than the proverbial once over as they hopped about the grand jury room in their efforts to start their pumps running at a gait to suit the medical sharks ready and waiting to listen for possible "engine trouble." While it was a well known fact that all the men were interested in the draft and attendant examination it was not thought this interest extended so generally to the gentler sex. That the interest was general was unearthed rather unexpectedly. The windows of the west side of one of our hotels command a view of the east side of the court house and a person located on the third floor of the hotel is privileged and able to look across the intervening two hundred feet and see everything that goes on in the grand jury room on the second floor of the court house. About the time the examinations began an inquisitive chambermaid happened to risk one eye out the window and the fun began. Soon all the help about the hotel was apprised of the sights to be seen, and no sooner had the tip been given than all the girls disappeared in the direction of the upper floor and the impromptu board was organized at once with six enthusiastic members.

When dinner time arrived and the cook was found alone in the kitchen a search was organized by the landlord and after a time the clerk discovered the sightseers. When he approached the door of the room which "the board" was using the girls had so qualified as anatomical experts that one was offering to bet with the other that the little dark-skinned fellow before the one going through his paces now would be rejected because of the prominence of his appendicitis operation scar. Before the bet was made his alarm broke up the meeting and when the girls hurried from the room one look out the window by the clerk located the third floor attraction.

The blinds are drawn on the grand jury room this afternoon.

Tyler Boys Quarrel With Serious Result

One Fellow Shoots The Other In The Head Sunday Last

Two Tyler boys, aged 14 and 12 years, got into an altercation Sunday evening about 5 o'clock and John, the younger of the two, who was being worsted in the physical clash, pulled an old revolver from his jeans and fired a shot point blank at his adversary's head. Andy, the older fellow, went down with the shot, but his head proved to be harder than the bullet, which split from the contact, one-half escaping while the other portion dug into Andy's ivory dome for an inch or two.

County Detective Jeffries was acquainted with the situation and went down to Tyler to investigate the case, which will be given attention at the coming quarter sessions' court. The boys were of Polish extraction.

FOR MEN ONLY (Smokers Preferred)

Thousands of our fellows are in a foreign land and while they have plenty of work to do there is some time allowed them for rest and this idle time weighs heavy on their hands. You, who have the companionship of home and street friends, can easily forego the evening smoke, but what if you had to forego it for weeks at a time and could not buy it? Yesterday The Progress printed an appeal for a little bit of money from Clearfield to buy smokes for the soldiers in Europe. All that is wanted is a twenty-five cent contribution. See the coupon on page two of this issue.

This is not entirely a men's movement. No indeed, we can't depend alone on the men to do it. We proved that yesterday. The only response to the appeal yesterday came from a girl. Now men, buck up, a little sacrifice on your part will do you good and great guns, how they will enjoy those smokes over in France.

WOMEN FIGURED IN EVERY WAR IN HISTORY

Heroic Fighting of Russian Women Recalls Other Instances of Fighting Under Fire

IOWA GIRL IN 1898 WAR

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Although a world-wide sensation has been caused by the recent reports from Russia telling of the heroic fighting of the women's legions in the Russian army, there have been many instances in the past in which members of the gentler sex have rendered yeoman service to their country on the battlefield. The cases of the Russian women, however, afford the first instance of women openly fighting in any considerable number in the ranks. In the majority of the cases in the past, the women have concealed their sex in order to be allowed to fight. The military history of almost every nation contains several anecdotes of the kind.

One of the most remarkable cases of the kind in the comparatively recent history of the United States was that of Miss Beebe Beam, an Iowa girl, who fought in the war against Spain. In order to reach the seat of war in the Philippines she disguised herself as a cabin-boy. Arriving at Manila, she disguised herself as a soldier and followed the campaign for nearly a year.

Another woman who fought, also in the American army for the sheer joy of fighting, was Senora Loreta Velazquez, a lady of Cuban birth. She was "wild about war" and when the American Civil war broke out she not only persuaded her husband to desert the Union army and join the Confederates but begged him to let her enlist as a private under his command. When he refused, she put on a suit of his clothes, and made her way to New Orleans. There she found a tailor who could keep a secret, had the clothes altered to suit her figure, procured a false moustache, and thus equipped and embellished, raised a company of recruits and took them to her husband. When the war was over the fair Senora renewed her life of adventure as a California miner.

From the very beginning of the present great conflict in Europe women have borne arms and served in the ranks. No fewer than twenty women have served in the Hungarian Voluntary Ukraine legion, and the exploits of a Miss Helen Puz of that corps would furnish material for a whole library of stirring tales of warfare and adventure. She went through the whole Galician campaign, in the worst places of the Carpathian mountains, lost her father, two brothers and her fiancée, gained two medals, was transferred to the Uhlans, had two ribs broken by a shrapnel splinter, and, according to latest accounts, was still eager to fight.

It is stated on good authority that Russia, prior to the recent revolution which sent so many of the fair sex to the front, had a law which prohibited women from bearing arms. (Continued on Page Two)

School for Soldiers Lesson No. 2

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and direction. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States army to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 2 MAKING GOOD AS A SOLDIER

The National Army, in which you are to take your place, truly expresses the American character and ideals. It is a great democratic army. It includes men of all degrees of wealth and education, chosen through fair and open selection by lot. All are brought together on terms of equality. There has been and there will be in this great National Army no favoritism and no "pull." The poor man will drill side by side with the man who has been raised in luxury. Each will learn from the other. The place each man makes for himself will be determined by his own work and ability.

Developing Soldierly Qualities. The question as to whether it is better to join the colors now or with a later contingent is not worth arguing, since the decision has been made for each man by lot. An ambitious man, however, will be glad to join now. It gives him a better chance for promotion. The commissioned officers of the first contingent are picked men who have voluntarily gone through the hardest kind of training. The officers of later contingents will be drawn largely from the men enlisted in the first contingents. There is plenty of opportunity here for every man to use his brains and his energy and to earn promotion according to his worth. This does not mean easy or quick advancement. It means only that you will have your fair chance—and you would ask for nothing more—to develop yourself and to climb upward step by step.

In order to make good in the National army you must, first of all, fit yourself to carry with credit the simple title of American Citizen-Soldier—one of the proudest titles in the world. This means that you must develop in yourself the qualities of a soldier. The more quickly and thoroughly you cultivate them, the greater will be your satisfaction and success.

There is very little real difference of opinion as to soldierly qualities. They have been determined by ages of experience. Weapons change, but the soldiers who handle the weapons remain much the same.

Three Basic Qualities. There are three basic qualities, without which no man can be a real soldier even though he may temporarily wear a uniform. They are: Loyalty. Obedience. Physical fitness.

A man without these qualities is in the way and is a source of weakness to an army, both in the camp and on the field of battle. The articles of war of the United States set forth the military crimes which are punishable by heavy penalties. Among these crimes are desertion, cowardice, insubordination, (Continued on Page Three)

Wagon Loaders Are In Bad Shape Now

New Order As To Cars Will Rain Business

The meek and lowly "wagon" loader was given a knock-out punch yesterday when the different railroads issued an order stating that hereafter none but "low still" and box cars would be supplied for loading from wagons.

This order will practically put an end to wagon loading if allowed to stand as at the $3 per ton price for coal it is absolutely impossible to load coal for shipment in box cars at a profit, as the extra handling necessary would more than eat up the profit now realized.

So far as the "low stills" are concerned the coal men say they appear to have been retired from service as they do not furnish one low still in a hundred coal cars supplied.

Local wagon loaders are very much alarmed over the new rule and claim it will affect adversely some five hundred men and fifty teams in this section alone. At the present the miners employed by those operators supplying coal by wagon are being paid $1.25 per ton, but will be cut down to $1.00 now in order to make up a part of the extra box car loading expense.

It is said that more than three hundred tons of coal per day have been loaded from wagons at the local station each day during the past several months.

Another Accident On Third Street

Driver of Express Wagon Has Narrow Escape When Train Hits Wagon

Narrow Third street was the scene of a near-tragedy last evening. Driver Shillem, of the Adams Express Company on his way to the stable for supper, attempted to drive between the sidewalk and railroad track along side the Windsor Hotel while the evening passenger train was pulling in for the Market street stop. The roadway is extremely narrow at this point and the oncoming locomotive striking the overhanging top of the wagon dragged it off onto the street. The driver was forced off his seat down onto the crossbar and singletree behind the horse and had a very narrow escape from serious injury. The wagon top was totally wrecked.

Government Control of Coal Coming Closer

Peabody Claims Great Lakes Region Is Suffering From Lack Thereof

As the last resort to meet the coal famine in the Great Lakes region President Wilson has been asked to exercise his authority under the food control bill either to commandeer the coal mines or expedite its transportation from the mines. This seems certain Chairman Peabody of the Defense Council's coal committee declared today.

Government control of the mines in the country will place 800,000 miners under Uncle Sam's employment the United Press learned today through the Illinois Coal Operators' Association. The coal output according to 1916 figures was 597,474,000 tons. More than one-third is produced in the Pennsylvania mines, West Virginia ranks second and Illinois third.

Conscription of Great Wealth Is Urged

Lafollette As Head Of Finance Makes Committee Report

Washington, Aug. 14.—Conscription of wealth to pay for the war and exemption of the earnings of the nation's workers are urged in a report to the Senate today by three members of the Finance Committee who disagree with the revenue raising methods proposed in the pending $2,600,000,000 war tax bill. The report signed by Senators Lafollette, Gore and Thomas of Colorado was presented by Lafollette when the Senate was considering the bill. The minority report assumes that the sum the committee bill proposes to raise is only half enough to meet the government's needs for the present fiscal year.

PATTON SUGGESTED AS SUCCESSOR TO BLACK

Curwensville Road Builder Now Agricultural Head, may get New Appointment

Harrisburg, Aug. 14.—Frank B. Black may be followed into private life by more officials of the state highway department. It is said that in the event of J. Denny O'Neil or Chas. E. Patton, who are mentioned as the most probable men from whom the commissioner may be picked, starting to play politics in the department, Chief Engineer W. H. Uhler will resign and there may be more.

Blacks' resignation has caused rumors that other department heads may resign, but it is considered doubtful, as the governor is known to have refused to get after a couple of men who defied his political advisers over appointments.

Black will be here tomorrow to close up business.

the ranks, had no fewer than five hundred women bearing arms "for God and the Czar." One—Madame Kovetsova—became a colonel, and commanded the Sixth Ural Cossack regiment. She was wounded twice while fighting in East Prussia, and by her bravery won a much-coveted military medal.

Then there was Kira Boshkrowa, an eighteen-year-old Vilna girl, who joined the Russian army in October, 1914, under the name of Nikolai Popin. She gained the Cross of St. George for her daring reconnoitering. After being in the hospital for some weeks suffering from a slight wound and typhus, she rejoined her regiment on the firing line.

A Russian girl of twenty, the daughter of Colonel Tomilovsky, accompanied her father to the front in September, 1914. She had her hair cut short and wore a uniform, taking part in several engagements. On various occasions Miss Tomilovsky served as orderly, scout, and telegraph operator, and she was finally appointed to the command of a platoon. She succeeded in "tapping" a German staff telegram relating to a plan to break the Russian centre, and as a result, the Russian troops were able to repulse the enemy with heavy losses.

J. L. Viet, of 303 Linden street, Scranton, past commander of Camp 8, Sons of Veterans, and captain of First company, Second regiment, S. V. G., Pennsylvania brigade, said recently:

"I have suffered intensely for a long while from gastritis and indigestion. Whatever I ate seemed to produce bad after effects, such as gas on my stomach and nausea."

"In fact, I was always, or very generally, choked up from a gaseous, sour stomach, as if my food fermented continually."

"The trouble annoyed me no little and I became run down in every way. I lost strength and was nervous and depressed at times."

"I heard about this Tanlac, got some to fit. I began improving after using only a few doses of Tanlac, and I have been improving constantly ever since. I put the medicine to what I called a supreme test the other evening when I attended a banquet, and felt no ill after-effects from what I ate there."

"This Tanlac is not only straightening my digestion out, but seems to soothe and strengthen my stomach. Tanlac is now sold here by Woodward & McPherson."

Stop Wasting Fertilizer

That barnyard manure, allowed to lay in piles, is bound to lose most of its plant food through leaching. The plant food that should be making you more dollars in the field is carried away by every rain that comes in the shape of liquid manure.

With its 8 foot spread your fields get an equalized distribution of fertilizer that is finely broken loosening the plant food. Better crops, more money, more time and a satisfaction of knowing you are stopping waste is the result.

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel porse do.

Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

Lemons Whiten and Beautify the Skin! Make Cheap Lotion

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quaggarqtger pin of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon yjuice gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smotherer and beautifier.

Just try it! Make up a warter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful for rough, red hands.

Your druggist will sell three ounces of orchard white at little cost, and any grocer will supply the lemons.

School for Soldiers

drunkenness while on duty, sleeping while on duty as a sentinel, disclosing the watchword, and giving aid or comfort to the enemy. Run over this list and you will see that every one of these military crimes can result only from the absence of one or more of the three basic qualities of a soldier.

Loyalty
A soldier's loyalty governs, first of all, his feelings and actions towards his country, his government, and his flag. There can be no such thing as halfway loyalty. The slightest compromise opens the door to treason.

But a soldier's loyalty does not stop here. It governs also his feelings and actions toward the army and toward all the officers under whom he serves. It absolutely forbids disobedience among both officers and enlisted men, or disrespect toward those in authority.

Going a step farther, loyalty governs also the soldier's feelings and actions toward his own regiment, his own company and his own squad. Without this form of loyalty there can be no real comradeship; without it you will never feel that personal pride and satisfaction in the service which should mean so much in your army life.

Obedience
The second of the soldier's basic qualities is obedience, based on discipline. Without obedience and discipline an army can not long continue to exist; it will quickly degenerate into an armed mob. As the infantry Drill Regulations put it, discipline is "the distinguishing mark of trained troops."

Frequently the recruit, with his in-born dislike of being bossed, makes the mistake during his first few weeks in the army of resenting the fact that immediate and unquestioning obedience is required of him. He quickly learns, however, that obedience enforced throughout the army is in all situations the chief safeguard of the rights, the comfort and the safety of every man, from the raw recruit to the commanding general. It is a guarantee that the small number of unruly or cowardly men to be found in every group shall be kept in check and forced to comply with rules made for the benefit of all.

Military discipline is always impersonal. Obedience is required not merely of you, but of every man in the army. It is required of officers by their superiors with fully as much strictness as it is required of you. It will become your duty, whenever you are given authority over other men, to demand from them the same full measure of obedience that others will require of you.

Discipline is not only essential in developing the army, but also in developing your own character as a soldier. "The soldier who is by nature brave, will by discipline become braver."

Physical Fitness
The third basic quality, physical fitness is so essential that a large part of the time devoted to your training will be spent in building it up. Physical fitness includes not only muscular development but good health and endurance as well. It is a quality which every man who passes the physical examinations can develop in himself by reasonable care and by obedience to instructions. This is a subject more fully discussed in a later lesson.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

July 22, 1917.

Somewhere in France.

Dear Father and Mother:—Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope you are the all the same. Tell Lewis that I received his letter which he wrote to me when I was in Texas and that I will not write at this time. I also received the letter from mother and was glad to hear from you all and hope that I will hear from some of you soon.

No doubt you will think this letter is short but you know this being in war times we are not allowed to write anything as to how things are over here in France, so all I can do is to let you know from time to time how I am getting along. So I will close for this time, hoping this will find you all well. Give my best to all the boys down at the works. You will address my letters this way:—

Fort Slocum, N. Y.

Dear Folks at Home.

I now find time to drop you a few lines to let you know that I am well just at present, hope these few lines will find you all the same.

It may perhaps, make you feel pretty blue when you hear that your son has now finished his final examination and passed O. K. for the U. S. hospital corps but I couldn't hold myself any longer. Something told me way down in my heart that Uncle

BIG EATERS GETS KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog, and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach; or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice; combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

ANOTHER CATTLE STEALER ARRESTED

County Detective Jeffries arrested Burrill Heeman, of Osceola, at Towanda, Pa., on Friday charged with being one of the gang of cattle rustlers which operated so extensively in the Houtzdale region the past summer. Heeman's brother Horace is in jail on the same charge.

Sam was calling me. I don't know where they will send me from here. Either to San Antonio, Texas or Little Rock, Arkansas but mail your letters to Fort Slocum, general delivery. If I am gone before it gets here they will forward it to me. I will only be here a few days or a week. I did not enlist for any certain time but I just had to enlist for Uncle Sam until the war is over.

From your loving son and brother

HERMAN J. OGDEN
Syracuse, N. Y.,
August, 1917.

I received your letter and was glad to hear from you. I am feeling fine and am enjoying this life.

It is a great life. We have Saturday afternoon and Sunday off. Three of us went to church Sunday. The church was out in the country, so we got up early and walked out. We were the only soldiers there and it was sure a fine sermon. After church we were invited to a nice dinner which we enjoyed very much.

They are very nice people here. They come out from Syracuse in machines and take us to church and we are treated fine.

We get all we want to eat three times a day. We have coffee for breakfast, lemonade for dinner and ice tea for supper.

We have a fine bunch of officers and non-commissioned officers in our company. I was made a first class private some time ago.

There are six of us in F company from Clearfield and we sure do have some good times.

We have a fine Corporal, his name is Walter Murphy. He is a great fellow and would do without things just to help us out. He sure is a prince.

I don't know where Ward is. I heard the regiment he is in was in France but I don't know for sure.

Well I will close for this time, with love to all from your loving son

Draft Mill Grinding Out Defenders For National Army

EXEMPTION CLAIMS ARE RUNNING HIGH

The work of grinding out men for Uncle Sam's new national army was begun in District No. 1 this morning. The time set to start the examination was 8 o'clock a. m. but a half hour before that time the young hussars began to drop quietly in front of the house.

The new member of the board R. H. Sommerville, of Winburne, was sworn in by his colleagues Messrs. Stewart and Dyer and the work of sorting out the physically fit was at once taken up.

The board was assisted by Sheriff McCloskey who registered all claims for exemption, Chief Clerk John M. Bain and Assistant W. O. Hoover, Drs. John W. Gordon G. B. Yeasney, Quigley and Frantz, of Clearfield, Mauk, of Woodland, and King, of Curwensville, were the doctors engaged.

At 8:20 the first man was called. He was No. 258 the first man in the history making draft, Robert Mitchell, of Clearfield, son of the late Oscar Mitchell, Esq. He is a sturdy specimen of American manhood and like the fabled Abou Ben Adhem, his name will lead all the rest when the roll of accepted soldiers is called for District No. 1.

The doctors worked carefully over each subject and when time for the noon recess arrived but 58 men had run the strenuous gauntlet. Of these 58 men there were 25 exemption claims filed. Of this number 20 asked exemption because of a wife and one or more children; three claimed to be the sole support of widowed mothers; one was supporting aged and infirm parents, while the other was already in Uncle Sam's service.

In addition to the exemptions asked for 10 others were rejected for failure to pass the physical requirements. The remaining 23 were passed as being physically fit, had no kick coming anywhere and will be found ready and waiting when the training camp to board the cars for the training camp on September 5th next.

There are 140 names on the list for examination today and the board is in for a very busy all day and all night session from appearances at noon, although the work of examining was hustled along more rapidly this afternoon.

Following a hasty luncheon the board resumed its work at 1:15 and the grind began again. By 3:30 o'clock 58 more had passed through the ordeal. Of this number 13 were rejected on physical grounds. Of the remaining 45 exemption claims were presented by 17, leaving 28 accepted men.

Of the exemptions 8 were on account of being married; 4 were supporting their mothers; 2 were aliens and 3 were supporting their parents.

The total number summoned today was 157, which left 42 for examination after 3:30 p. m.

Opposition Board Was Working Overtime

Found to be... and... Dispersed

The candidates at the morning session were certainly carefully scrutinized, in fact even more so than the regulations contemplated or required. This was learned about noon when it was discovered that in addition to the doctors and members of the exemption board, several other pairs of eyes, advantageously located, were giving the prospective warriors more than the proverbial once over as they hopped about the grand jury room in their efforts to start their pumps running at a gait to suit the medical sharks ready and waiting to listen for possible "engine trouble." While it was a well known fact that all the men were interested in the draft and attendant examination it was not thought this interest extended so generally to the gentler sex. That the interest was general was unearthed rather unexpectedly. The windows of the west side of one of our hotels command a view of the east side of the court house and a person located on the third floor of the hotel is privileged and able to look across the intervening two hundred feet and see everything that goes on in the grand jury room on the second floor of the court house. About the time the examinations began an inquisitive chambermaid happened to risk one eye out the window and the fun began. Soon all the help about the hotel was apprised of the sights to be seen, and no sooner had the tip been given than all the girls disappeared in the direction of the upper floor and the impromptu board was organized at once with six enthusiastic members.

When dinner time arrived and the cook was found alone in the kitchen a search was organized by the landlord and after a time the clerk discovered the sightseers. When he approached the door of the room which "the board" was using the girls had so qualified as anatomical experts that one was offering to bet with the other that the little dark-skinned fellow before the one going through his paces now would be rejected because of the prominence of his appendicitis operation scar. Before the bet was made his alarm broke up the meeting and when the girls hurried from the room one look out the window by the clerk located the third floor attraction.

The blinds are drawn on the grand jury room this afternoon.

Tyler Boys Quarrel With Serious Result

One Fellow Shoots The Other In The Head Sunday Last

Two Tyler boys, aged 14 and 12 years, got into an altercation Sunday evening about 5 o'clock and John, the younger of the two, who was being worsted in the physical clash, pulled an old revolver from his jeans and fired a shot point blank at his adversary's head. Andy, the older fellow, went down with the shot, but his head proved to be harder than the bullet, which split from the contact, one-half escaping while the other portion dug into Andy's ivory dome for an inch or two.

County Detective Jeffries was acquainted with the situation and went down to Tyler to investigate the case, which will be given attention at the coming quarter sessions' court. The boys were of Polish extraction.

FOR MEN ONLY (Smokers Preferred)

Thousands of our fellows are in a foreign land and while they have plenty of work to do there is some time allowed them for rest and this idle time weighs heavy on their hands. You, who have the companionship of home and street friends, can easily forego the evening smoke, but what if you had to forego it for weeks at a time and could not buy it? Yesterday The Progress printed an appeal for a little bit of money from Clearfield to buy smokes for the soldiers in Europe. All that is wanted is a twenty-five cent contribution. See the coupon on page two of this issue.

This is not entirely a men's movement. No indeed, we can't depend alone on the men to do it. We proved that yesterday. The only response to the appeal yesterday came from a girl. Now men, buck up, a little sacrifice on your part will do you good and great guns, how they will enjoy those smokes over in France.

WOMEN FIGURED IN EVERY WAR IN HISTORY

Heroic Fighting of Russian Women Recalls Other Instances of Fighting Under Fire

IOWA GIRL IN 1898 WAR

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Although a world-wide sensation has been caused by the recent reports from Russia telling of the heroic fighting of the women's legions in the Russian army, there have been many instances in the past in which members of the gentler sex have rendered yeoman service to their country on the battlefield. The cases of the Russian women, however, afford the first instance of women openly fighting in any considerable number in the ranks. In the majority of the cases in the past, the women have concealed their sex in order to be allowed to fight. The military history of almost every nation contains several anecdotes of the kind.

One of the most remarkable cases of the kind in the comparatively recent history of the United States was that of Miss Beebe Beam, an Iowa girl, who fought in the war against Spain. In order to reach the seat of war in the Philippines she disguised herself as a cabin-boy. Arriving at Manila, she disguised herself as a soldier and followed the campaign for nearly a year.

Another woman who fought, also in the American army for the sheer joy of fighting, was Senora Loreta Velazquez, a lady of Cuban birth. She was "wild about war" and when the American Civil war broke out she not only persuaded her husband to desert the Union army and join the Confederates but begged him to let her enlist as a private under his command. When he refused, she put on a suit of his clothes, and made her way to New Orleans. There she found a tailor who could keep a secret, had the clothes altered to suit her figure, procured a false moustache, and thus equipped and embellished, raised a company of recruits and took them to her husband. When the war was over the fair Senora renewed her life of adventure as a California miner.

From the very beginning of the present great conflict in Europe women have borne arms and served in the ranks. No fewer than twenty women have served in the Hungarian Voluntary Ukraine legion, and the exploits of a Miss Helen Puz of that corps would furnish material for a whole library of stirring tales of warfare and adventure. She went through the whole Galician campaign, in the worst places of the Carpathian mountains, lost her father, two brothers and her fiancée, gained two medals, was transferred to the Uhlans, had two ribs broken by a shrapnel splinter, and, according to latest accounts, was still eager to fight.

It is stated on good authority that Russia, prior to the recent revolution which sent so many of the fair sex to the front, had a law which prohibited women from bearing arms. (Continued on Page Two)

School for Soldiers Lesson No. 2

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and direction. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States army to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 2 MAKING GOOD AS A SOLDIER

The National Army, in which you are to take your place, truly expresses the American character and ideals. It is a great democratic army. It includes men of all degrees of wealth and education, chosen through fair and open selection by lot. All are brought together on terms of equality. There has been and there will be in this great National Army no favoritism and no "pull." The poor man will drill side by side with the man who has been raised in luxury. Each will learn from the other. The place each man makes for himself will be determined by his own work and ability.

Developing Soldierly Qualities. The question as to whether it is better to join the colors now or with a later contingent is not worth arguing, since the decision has been made for each man by lot. An ambitious man, however, will be glad to join now. It gives him a better chance for promotion. The commissioned officers of the first contingent are picked men who have voluntarily gone through the hardest kind of training. The officers of later contingents will be drawn largely from the men enlisted in the first contingents. There is plenty of opportunity here for every man to use his brains and his energy and to earn promotion according to his worth. This does not mean easy or quick advancement. It means only that you will have your fair chance—and you would ask for nothing more—to develop yourself and to climb upward step by step.

In order to make good in the National army you must, first of all, fit yourself to carry with credit the simple title of American Citizen-Soldier—one of the proudest titles in the world. This means that you must develop in yourself the qualities of a soldier. The more quickly and thoroughly you cultivate them, the greater will be your satisfaction and success.

There is very little real difference of opinion as to soldierly qualities. They have been determined by ages of experience. Weapons change, but the soldiers who handle the weapons remain much the same.

Three Basic Qualities. There are three basic qualities, without which no man can be a real soldier even though he may temporarily wear a uniform. They are: Loyalty. Obedience. Physical fitness.

A man without these qualities is in the way and is a source of weakness to an army, both in the camp and on the field of battle. The articles of war of the United States set forth the military crimes which are punishable by heavy penalties. Among these crimes are desertion, cowardice, insubordination, (Continued on Page Three)

Wagon Loaders Are In Bad Shape Now

New Order As To Cars Will Ruin Business

The meek and lowly "wagon" loader was given a knock-out punch yesterday when the different railroads issued an order stating that hereafter none but "low still" and box cars would be supplied for loading from wagons.

This order will practically put an end to wagon loading if allowed to stand as at the $3 per ton price for coal it is absolutely impossible to load coal for shipment in box cars at a profit, as the extra handling necessary would more than eat up the profit now realized.

So far as the "low stills" are concerned the coal men say they appear to have been retired from service as they do not furnish one low still in a hundred coal cars supplied. Local wagon loaders are very much alarmed over the new rule and claim it will affect adversely some five hundred men and fifty teams in this section alone. At the present the miners employed by those operators supplying coal by wagon are being paid $1.25 per ton, but will be cut down to $1.00 now in order to make up a part of the extra box car loading expense. It is said that more than three hundred tons of coal per day have been loaded from wagons at the local station each day during the past several months.

Driver of Express Wagon Has Narrow Escape When Train Hits Wagon

Narrow Third street was the scene of a near-tragedy last evening. Driver Shillem, of the Adams Express Company on his way to the stable for supper, attempted to drive between the sidewalk and railroad track along side the Windsor Hotel while the evening passenger train was pulling in for the Market street stop. The roadway is extremely narrow at this point and the oncoming locomotive striking the overhanging top of the wagon dragged it off onto the street. The driver was forced off his seat down onto the crossbar and singletree behind the horse and had a very narrow escape from serious injury. The wagon top was totally wrecked.

Government Control of Coal Coming Closer

Peabody Claims Great Lakes Region Is Suffering From Lack Thereof

As the last resort to meet the coal famine in the Great Lakes region President Wilson has been asked to exercise his authority under the food control bill either to commandeer the coal mines or expedite its transportation from the mines. This seems certain Chairman Peabody of the Defense Council's coal committee declared today.

Government control of the mines in the country will place 800,000 miners under Uncle Sam's employment the United Press learned today through the Illinois Coal Operators' Association. The coal output according to 1916 figures was 597,474,000 tons. More than one-third is produced in the Pennsylvania mines, West Virginia ranks second and Illinois third.

Conscription of Great Wealth Is Urged

Lafollette As Head Of Finance Makes Committee Report

Washington, Aug. 14.—Conscription of wealth to pay for the war and exemption of the earnings of the nation's workers are urged in a report to the Senate today by three members of the Finance Committee who disagree with the revenue raising methods proposed in the pending $2,600,000,000 war tax bill. The report signed by Senators Lafollette, Gore and Thomas of Colorado was presented by Lafollette when the Senate was considering the bill. The minority report assumes that the sum the committee bill proposes to raise is only half enough to meet the government's needs for the present fiscal year.

PATTON SUGGESTED AS SUCCESSOR TO BLACK

Curwensville Road Builder Now Agricultural Head, may get New Appointment

Harrisburg, Aug. 14.—Frank B. Black may be followed into private life by more officials of the state highway department. It is said that in the event of J. Denny O'Neil or Chas. E. Patton, who are mentioned as the most probable men from whom the commissioner may be picked, starting to play politics in the department, Chief Engineer W. H. Uhler will resign and there may be more.

Blacks' resignation has caused rumors that other department heads may resign, but it is considered doubtful, as the governor is known to have refused to get after a couple of men who defied his political advisers over appointments.

Black will be here tomorrow to close up business.

the ranks, had no fewer than five hundred women bearing arms "for God and the Czar." One—Madame Kovetsova—became a colonel, and commanded the Sixth Ural Cossack regiment. She was wounded twice while fighting in East Prussia, and by her bravery won a much-coveted military medal.

Then there was Kira Boshkrowa, an eighteen-year-old Vilna girl, who joined the Russian army in October, 1914, under the name of Nikolai Popin. She gained the Cross of St. George for her daring reconnoitering. After being in the hospital for some weeks suffering from a slight wound and typhus, she rejoined her regiment on the firing line.

A Russian girl of twenty, the daughter of Colonel Tomilovsky, accompanied her father to the front in September, 1914. She had her hair cut short and wore a uniform, taking part in several engagements. On various occasions Miss Tomilovsky served as orderly, scout, and telegraph operator, and she was finally appointed to the command of a platoon. She succeeded in "tapping" a German staff telegram relating to a plan to break the Russian centre, and as a result, the Russian troops were able to repulse the enemy with heavy losses.

Prominent Scrantonian Tells How Master Medicine Gave Him Relief

J. L. Viet, of 303 Linden street, Scranton, past commander of Camp 8, Sons of Veterans, and captain of First company, Second regiment, S. V. G., Pennsylvania brigade, said recently:

"I have suffered intensely for a long while from gastritis and indigestion. Whatever I ate seemed to produce bad after effects, such as gas on my stomach and nausea."

"In fact, I was always, or very generally, choked up from a gaseous, sour stomach, as if my food fermented continually."

"The trouble annoyed me no little and I became run down in every way. I lost strength and was nervous and depressed at times."

"I heard about this Tanlac, got some to fit. I began improving after using only a few doses of Tanlac, and I have been improving constantly ever since. I put the medicine to what I called a supreme test the other evening when I attended a banquet, and felt no ill after-effects from what I ate there."

"This Tanlac is not only straightening my digestion out, but seems to soothe and strengthen my stomach. Tanlac is now sold here by Woodward & McPherson."

THE JOINT ACCOUNT

Here is a splendid proposition for husband and uses where a couple is thrifty and trying to save money, money may be deposited in a joint account, either savings or checking, and subject to withdrawal by either husband or wife.

either should die, the account remains the property of the survivor without court proceedings. The Clearfield Trust Co. will take pleasure in opening an account in this way with any husband and wife.

Stop Wasting Fertilizer

That barnyard manure, allowed to lay in piles, is bound to lose most of its plant food through leaching. The plant food that should be making you more dollars in the field is carried away by every rain that comes in the shape of liquid manure.

One of these labor savers hauled up to your barnyard and when a load has accumulated spread on a field will pay for itself the first year. Then every rain that comes is losing plant food for your crops right where you want it.

With its 8 foot spread your fields get an equalized distribution of fertilizer that is finely broken loosening the plant food. Better crops, more money, more time and a satisfaction of knowing you are stopping waste is the result.

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel porse do.

Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

ance and up until the rain a good time was enjoyed by all present. Mr. Walter Kramer gave the address of welcome and spoke in a very pleasing manner. A special programme had been arranged for the day but the electric storm made it necessary for every one to flee to safety and the picnic was concluded for the day.

On Saturday morning about eight o'clock we noticed a car standing by the way side and sure enough it was tire trouble for some one. We were very much in sympathy when we saw it was three young men from—and whose names we would not mention. A circus was nothing compared to the exposition given by these parties. Tire off and one man missing who jumped in another car and went on his way smiling leaving the other two to fix up the car the best they knew how. One gent happened to be so sleepy he could not stay awake and asking the other one if he could drive a car the answer was "yes indeed, I can turn on and off the lights." Nevertheless they at last got everything in order and were soon on their way. We hope they had a safe journey.

Mrs. and Mrs. Ralph Spangler and little son Jack, motored over from Somerset, Pa., on Saturday and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Evans at their home on William street. Mr. Spangler was formerly manager of Kurtz Bros. store and they have many warm friends here.

drunkenness while on duty, sleeping while on duty as a sentinel, disclosing the watchword, and giving aid or comfort to the enemy. Run over this list and you will see that every one of these military crimes can result only from the absence of one or more of the three basic qualities of a soldier.

Loyalty
A soldier's loyalty governs, first of all, his feelings and actions towards his country, his government, and his flag. There can be no such thing as halfway loyalty. The slightest compromise opens the door to treason.

But a soldier's loyalty does not stop here. It governs also his feelings and actions toward the army and toward all the officers under whom he serves. It absolutely forbids disobedience among both officers and enlisted men, or disrespect toward those in authority.

Going a step farther, loyalty governs also the soldier's feelings and actions toward his own regiment, his own company and his own squad. Without this form of loyalty there can be no real comradeship; without it you will never feel that personal pride and satisfaction in the service which should mean so much in your army life.

Obedience
The second of the soldier's basic qualities is obedience, based on discipline. Without obedience and discipline an army can not long continue to exist; it will quickly degenerate into an armed mob. As the infantry Drill Regulations put it, discipline is "the distinguishing mark of trained troops."

Frequently the recruit, with his in-born dislike of being bossed, makes the mistake during his first few weeks in the army of resenting the fact that immediate and unquestioning obedience is required of him. He quickly learns, however, that obedience enforced throughout the army is in all situations the chief safeguard of the rights, the comfort and the safety of every man, from the raw recruit to the commanding general. It is a guarantee that the small number of unruly or cowardly men to be found in every group shall be kept in check and forced to comply with rules made for the benefit of all.

Military discipline is always impersonal. Obedience is required not merely of you, but of every man in the army. It is required of officers by their superiors with fully as much strictness as it is required of you. It will become your duty, whenever you are given authority over other men, to demand from them the same full measure of obedience that others will require of you.

Discipline is not only essential in developing the army, but also in developing your own character as a soldier. "The soldier who is by nature brave, will by discipline become braver."

Physical Fitness
The third basic quality, physical fitness is so essential that a large part of the time devoted to your training will be spent in building it up. Physical fitness includes not only muscular development but good health and endurance as well. It is a quality which every man who passes the physical examinations can develop in himself by reasonable care and by obedience to instructions. This is a subject more fully discussed in a later lesson.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

July 22, 1917.
Somewhere in France.

Dear Father and Mother:—
Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope you are the same. Tell Lewis that I received his letter which he wrote to me when I was in Texas and that I will not write at this time. I also received the letter from mother and was glad to hear from you all and hope that I will hear from some of you soon.

No doubt you will think this letter is short but you know this being in war times we are not allowed to write anything as to how things are over here in France, so all I can do is to let you know from time to time how I am getting along. So I will close for this time, hoping this will find you all well. Give my best to all the boys down at the works. You will address my letters this way:—
Private Meise,
Co. H, 26th Inf.,
A. E. F.,
France.

Fort Slocum, N. Y.
August 9th, 1917.

Dear Folks at Home.
I now find time to drop you a few lines to let you know that I am well just at present, hope these few lines will find you all the same.

It may perhaps, make you feel pretty blue when you hear that your son has now finished his final examination and passed O. K. for the U. S. hospital corps but I couldn't hold myself any longer. Something told me way down in my heart that Uncle

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog, and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice; combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

ANOTHER CATTLE STEALER ARRESTED

County Detective Jeffries arrested Burrill Heeman, of Osceola, at Towanda, Pa., on Friday charged with being one of the gang of cattle rustlers which operated so extensively in the Houtzdale region the past summer. Heeman's brother Horace is in jail on the same charge.

Sam was calling me. I don't know where they will send me from here. Either to San Antonio, Texas or Little Rock, Arkansas but mail your letters to Fort Slocum, general delivery. If I am gone before it gets here they will forward it to me. I will only be here a few days or a week. I did not enlist for any certain time but I just had to enlist for Uncle Sam until the war is over.

From your loving son and brother
HERMAN J. OGDEN

Syracuse, N. Y.,
August, 1917.

I received your letter and was glad to hear from you. I am feeling fine and am enjoying this life.

It is a great life. We have Saturday afternoon and Sunday off. Three of us went to church Sunday. The church was out in the country, so we got up early and walked out. We were the only soldiers there and it was sure a fine sermon. After church we were invited to a nice dinner which we enjoyed very much.

They are very nice people here. They come out from Syracuse in machines and take us to church and we are treated fine.

We get all we want to eat three times a day. We have coffee for breakfast, lemonade for dinner and ice tea for supper.

We have a fine bunch of officers and non-commissioned officers in our company. I was made a first class private some time ago.

There are six of us in F company from Clearfield and we sure do have some good times.

We have a fine Corporal, his name is Walter Murphy. He is a great fellow and would do without things just to help us out. He sure is a prince.

I don't know where Ward is. I heard the regiment he is in was in France but I don't know for sure. Well I will close for this time, with love to all from your loving son
LAWRENCE McCracken

It is Valuable to Thrifty Folks

There comes a time in every business when cash is more desirable than profits--when regardless of the of the proprietors. Just now no possible profit that we might make on our brand new, up to the minute
